SUMMARY

I'm a fourth-year software engineering bachelor's student.

I'm looking for an internship to gain real experience in a company before graduating from university.

I have experience working in teams of many diverse sizes.

OBJECTIVES

Learning new things is one of my passions, especially when it's in a practical way. I learn the best in an environment where I'm forced to put my new knowledge into action as I acquire it.

I believe that teamwork is vital in order to find effective and efficient solutions. Additionally, I love to meet new people and I think a cooperative work environment is one of the best methods to overcome shyness.

I consider that solutions to persistent problems and necessities should always be created to be functional and permanent. I'm highly critical of temporary solutions because I reckon that more often than not they become permanent.
